

Imagine Every Child Reading

Central Ohio Branch of the International Dyslexia Association

Presents:

From Complaint to Compliance:

One district's story of their journey to a successful model for identifying students with dyslexia and the reshaping of their early literacy education process for all children.

Tuesday, October 4, 2016 6:30 – 8:30 p.m.

Upper Arlington High School Auditorium
1650 Ridgeview Rd.
Columbus, OH 43221

This presentation will outline a unique story beginning with a group complaint filed by 19 parents against their school district for not identifying and serving children with dyslexia.

The district was found in violation and then began a process of hiring new intervention services leadership, seeking compliance with ODE's corrective action, leading professional development and beginning healing within its community. It is a story of collaboration with the very parents who filed the complaint.

The district personnel will detail their new identification methods, early literacy strategies and the astounding results achieved for all K-3 students.

Presenters include:

Kevin Gorman, Student Services Director, Upper Arlington Schools, & Staff
Brett Tingley, President, UA-KID (Kids Identified with Dyslexia)
